

'ALPHR Technology Ltd. is committed to client focused design, construction, commissioning and customer service of automated assembly, inspection and test machinery to meet client needs.

To do this, the organization maintains a business management system supported by a strategy of determining client needs through close communication, agreement of annual quality objectives that meet client needs, regulatory requirements and drive continual improvement of processes and outcomes.'